

Bahar B. Barami
U.S. Department of Transportation
Volpe Center, DTS-21
Kendall Square
Cambridge, MA 02142
617-494-2150

Bahar Barami is a senior economist at Volpe Center. She manages projects relating to the economics of intermodal freight, risk management, logistics systems, and impacts of technology impacts. Bahar is active on several transportation research committees, and has served as the National Science and Technology Council Executive Agent for application of advanced technologies to freight transport. Before joining Volpe in 1991, Dr. Barami was a consultant in Philadelphia with Gellman Research Associates and Ketron Inc., and also taught economics at La Salle University. Bahar has M.A. degrees from Duke University and the University of Reading in UK, and a Ph.D. degree in Applied Economics from the University of Texas at Dallas.